News In Brief

Youth Killed Saving Another

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP)—A 14-year-old schoolboy was killed Wednesday while saving the life of a younger boy who was in the path of an auto which ran wild and narrowly missed hitting about 12 other pupils.

Authorities said the dead boy, Alan Young, a former safety patrol boy, was nearly across the thoroughfare when he noticed that Thomas McGeehin Jr., 8, was in the path of the car. Young pushed McGeehin away from the auto but was unable to get out of the vehicle's path.

Reis Jurors Are Dismissed

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The Lillian Reis burglary trial ended in a hung jury Wednesday night after the panel of five women and seven men were unable to reach a verdict in 16½ hours of deliberation over a two-day period.

Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier dismissed the jury at 9:20 p. m. after it had reported for the second time within five hours that it was hopelessly deadlocked. Unofficial reports were that the vote was 7-5 for acquittal the first time and 8-4 for acquittal the second.

Miss Reis, a 32-year-old blonde, was charged with masterminding a bizarre burglary, then using some of the money to purchase the Celebrity Room night club in Philadelphia where she once danced, stood without expression as the jury foreman reported the deadlock.

Rayburn Too Ill For Drugs

DALLAS (AP)—Doctors indicated Wednesday that House Speaker Sam Rayburn is so ill of cancer they cannot treat him with drugs or irradiation.

A medical report said drugs will be resumed "when his condition permits." It added that irradiation treatment might also be started.

The report, issued by Rayburn's team of doctors, said treatment with either method causes "significant toxicity in a patient who is seriously ill."

His physicians said the speaker's condition showed no change from Tuesday. Rayburn is incurably ill.

Miss Mickelmore Leaves Nigeria

By ROBERT N. LINDSAY
LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Her eyes filled with tears, Margery Mickelmore left by air for Puerto Rico Wednesday night for a fresh start in the U.S. Peace Corps after declaring in a quivering voice: "I am very sorry to be leaving Nigeria."

Miss Mickelmore, 23, who raised a storm with implied criticism of Nigerian living conditions on a postcard that went astray, was whisked aboard a plane for London by U.S. Embassy officials.

Gov. Lawrence To Dedicate Thruway Strip On Monday

OFFICIAL plans for the formal dedication of a 2.6-mile portion of Interstate Route 80, in the area of the Stroudsburgs, at 10 o'clock next Monday morning are nearing completion. Governor David Lawrence of Pennsylvania will be the speaker for the occasion, and many dignitaries from the Commonwealth and the State of New Jersey will be on hand.

LeRoy Mikels, president of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, has urged that a large turnout of area residents and municipal officials be on hand for the dedication to show their appreciation for the improved highway facility which will be open for use in the near future. The dedication plans have received the support of all of the civic-minded organizations in the area. Its importance was stressed at the recent meeting of the Top of the Poconos Association by John Crandall, and will also be noted by William Altier, president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau at its meeting. Other organizations have done likewise.

For the dedication ceremony itself, Joseph Beers, contractor for the section of road, has erected a platform at the bridge over Broadhead's Creek, and will supply a small generator for power. Radio Station WVOO will install the public address system.

Music for the dedication will be provided by the band of the Stroud Union High School, under the direction of John Pyle, and the band of East Stroudsburg High School, under the direction of Robert Zellner.

The Pennsylvania Automobile Association will be represented, as well as county and municipal officials. C. E. Noyes, executive secretary of the Keystone Shortway Association, met with the local committee yesterday to complete arrangements.

Also present for the dedication will be A. Victor Caesar, district engineer for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways; Charles Sincavage, assistant engineer, and Louis Ruggerio, construction engineer for District No. 5.

The meetings of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and the Keystone Shortway Association will be merged for the day, and the dedication dinner will be held at noon at the Penn-Stroud, following which Governor Lawrence will return to Harrisburg for other commitments.

Dirksen Says Washington Is 'Floundering'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said Wednesday the Kennedy administration is floundering and not solved "the question of our national direction."

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, wrote a lengthy review of the congressional session that ended last month.

"The New Frontier is still floundering. It seeks firmly to face up to the Communist menace abroad by toying with the collectivist view at home, but the choice will have to be made. We cannot have it both ways," he wrote.

It is strange indeed as one assesses the floundering of the administration that it could claim kinship with Jefferson, who was so jealous of centralized government.

"It is a kind of outlandish heresy for the New Frontier to style itself as the party of hope when the smothering of freedom can only be the ultimate result of its program."

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said in a separate report that the first session of the 87th Congress was "the busiest that I can remember since World War II days, and it has also been one, I believe, of great accomplishment."

"Our military establishment was greatly strengthened," Kefauver said.

Delegates Are Deadlocked On UN Post

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet and U.S. chief delegates reported continued deadlock Wednesday night after conferring for an hour and a quarter about the selection of a temporary U.N. secretary-general.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin told reporters, "We studied both our positions and did not agree on anything as yet."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said there was no agreement.

The two were together in a small U.N. conference room, each with a few aides. It was the sixth U.S.-Soviet meeting since Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld died in a plane crash Sept. 18.

Beforehand, Zorin was reported ready to make a major concession on the timing of a promise from the temporary secretary-general to consult with his main advisers.

But afterward, Zorin declined to comment on this report, and Stevenson said there still was disagreement over both the timing of the statement and the number of the advisers.

The two men did not set a date for a further meeting. But a U.S. source emphasized that this did not mean the negotiations had been broken off.

K Says His Program Only Possible With World Peace

U. N. Seeks Halting Of Atom Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Political Committee overrode Soviet opposition and voted Wednesday, to give urgent consideration to the issue of halting nuclear weapons tests.

Actual debate will begin Thursday morning in the 101-nation committee. The United States and other Western powers are expected to assail the Soviet Union for its announced plans to cap its current series of atmospheric tests with a 50-megaton bomb blast.

In two important votes the Soviet bloc took a beating. By a vote of 83-10 with four abstentions the committee decided to list as its first item of business an Indian proposal for a new voluntary moratorium on nuclear testing. Only the nine-nation Soviet bloc and Cuba voted against.

Then the committee approved a U.S. move to debate simultaneously the Indian proposal and a U.S.-British resolution on the urgent need for a treaty to end tests under effective control.

The vote was 54-13 with 31 abstentions. The Soviet Bloc, Cuba, Mali, India and Senegal voted no. The abstentions were cast mostly by noncommitted nations who took part in the recent Belgrade conference.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin immediately denounced the committee's decisions. Taking the floor after the vote, he said the debate "cannot have any positive results."

One Ford Plant Balks; May Cause Other Plants To Stop

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers Union broke off negotiations Wednesday on an at-the-plant working agreement for a key plant which could close down Ford assembly lines in a matter of days if a strike there is continued.

The plant is at Walton Hills, Ohio, just outside Cleveland. It makes stampings and pressed metal parts for all Ford cars except the Lincoln Continental.

It is the only one of 85 plants at which Ford had not issued recall orders since the union called off a 13-day strike against Ford last Sunday. A six-day wildcat walkout there a year ago had begun closing Ford assembly lines down when it was ended.

Ford and the UAW reached agreement last Thursday on a national package of wages and fringe benefits, but the UAW authorized local units to continue strikes in support of at-the-plant working agreements which supplement the national contract.

The union's International Executive Board has ordered all Ford workers, except at Walton Hills, back to the job.

Ford got back into automobile production at some plants Monday and approximately 106,000 of its 120,000 hourly rated workers were back on the job Wednesday, with 15 of 18 assembly plants operating.

When Wednesday's Ford-UAW bargaining broke up negotiators set no date for a future meeting. Jerry Wise, president of Walton Hills Local 420, said all issues except one have been settled. He said this was company insistence on cutting pay rates 5 to 15 cents an hour for 435 jobs in the big stamping plant which employs 3,330.

Ford denied it was attempting to cut any wages now being paid at Cleveland.

The UAW, to allow subcommittees to continue bargaining in noneconomic fields, Wednesday broke off a scheduled full-scale contract negotiation session with Chrysler Corp.

The union said it feels "it is more important for subcommittees to go on working" on such items as seniority, production standards, work week and wage inequities.

Subcommittees had been meeting five hours when the UAW announced they would continue until Wednesday night, when UAW President Walter P. Reuther and his aides would review progress and determine when full negotiating committees would meet again.

The union began intensive bargaining this week with Chrysler after having previously wrapped up new contracts at American Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and General Motors Corp.

Instead the mission of Taylor, President Kennedy's military adviser and specialist on cold war strategy problems, is one of storing up information on which to base recommendations after his return home, the spokesman said.

One of Taylor's problems is to determine whether there should be U.S. military intervention in South Viet Nam. Kennedy is reported extremely reluctant to send in combat troops.

Informed sources here said earlier this week both nations seemed agreed the time was not ripe. Just the possibility has brought denunciations from the Communist bloc.

Taylor expressed the Kennedy administration's "utmost confidence" in the Diem government on his arrival.

The general had a three-hour talk at the U.S. Embassy about the apparently deteriorating situation with U.S. officials who have been training and equipping Vietnamese armed forces. A U.S. spokesman said these discussions were neither optimistic nor pessimistic, but factual.

Then Taylor went to the heavily guarded presidential palace for his conference with Diem. The spokesman said this exchange, carried on mainly in French, was "candid and interesting."

The talks covered such matters as the country's security against Red-led Viet Cong guerrillas, economic problems and recent crop-debilitating floods in the south. The spokesman said he didn't know whether Diem asked increased financial aid.

Diem invoked a state of emergency—a modified form of martial law—just as Taylor was arriving Wednesday morning.

Says Soviet Will Meet Any Challenge

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev declared Wednesday the Soviet Union means to have all the necessary nuclear and missile weapons of every range to crush anyone "challenging us to war."

But he said his "main challenge" to the capitalist world is the 20-year program he laid before the applauding 22nd Soviet party congress and "it can be fulfilled successfully only in the conditions of peace."

Khrushchev, who Tuesday spoke of exploding a 50-megaton bomb, 2,500 times the size of the first atom bomb at Hiroshima, promised as he has before to "disband our army and sink our atomic bombs and missiles in the ocean."

But this promise was on the condition there is an agreement on general and complete disarmament under strict international control. Western disarmament negotiators never have been able to get a satisfactory agreement on controls with the U.S.S.R.

Khrushchev, in a six-hour speech—his second such in two days—outlined a 20-year program which he said would give the Soviet people the highest production and living standards on earth.

He described it as a blueprint for the inevitable downfall of imperialism and the triumph of socialism on a world scale "which already has administered a big defeat for aggressive forces 'who idolize the hydrogen bomb.'"

Forty million card-carrying Communists in 87 nations all over the world, he said, have made communism "the most powerful force of our time."

This force, he added, is working in "an epoch of revolutions, social revolutions, anti-imperialist national liberation revolutions, peoples' democratic revolutions, board peasant movements" and all are merging in a capitalist-undermining process.

"By halting the torch of liberty, the banner of socialism and communism over the world, our party has glorified the 20th century as a century of fundamental changes in the destinies of mankind," declared Khrushchev in the concluding part of his address to the nearly 5,000 delegates in the Kremlin auditorium.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, in commenting on the reaction said delegates leaving the Kremlin felt as if they had made a "thrilling trip to the orbit of communism" that would be realized in the near future.

Western reporters noted, however, that many in the audience, rather than being thrilled nodded frequently, only to be brought awake by waves of applause which seemed to break out at about 10-minute intervals.

Toward the end Khrushchev became hoarse and fell into a fit of coughing which lasted about a minute.

"I probably have a cold," he said with a grin, and the audience was swept with laughter.

There were no fatalities despite the potential for great loss of life. The explosion destroyed a one-story, concrete-block building set apart from six other structures occupied by the Helene Curtis Industries.

Whooping Cranes Flying Southward

OTTAWA (AP) — Four young whooping cranes are believed flying southward toward the wintering grounds at the Arkansas wildlife refuge on the Texas coast, the Northern Affairs Department said yesterday.

Latest checks indicated all the young and their parents have begun the 2,600-mile flight from Wood Buffalo National Park, on the Alberta-Northwest Territories border.

Eleven adults and three young were sighted Aug. 25 and another youngster was spotted subsequently. Thirty-six of the nearly-extinct birds came north in the spring.

If all 40 got back safely to Arkansas, the known world population of the whoopers—named after their far-carrying bugling cry—would be 47. This includes six in captivity and a young one hatched at the New Orleans Zoo this year.

Tomorrow's The Day!

Several days ago, we asked the residents of the Stroudsburg area to circle Friday, October 20, on their calendars and to remember the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile at that time.

Tomorrow is the day we asked you to remember. It is an important day in the lives of Monroe County residents, for, if we support the Bloodmobile visit and obtain the quota required, blood will be available to all residents when they need it, no matter where they are.

It is not entirely a selfish approach to use in asking that you donate your blood, because the individual donors may never need it. However, your neighbor next door may need it tomorrow, or someone in your own family circle may have need for it soon. When the need comes, time is usually of the essence and sometimes direct donors with the right type are difficult to find.

On top of the local blood program, the American Red Cross blood program is the major source of supply for blood used in our Armed Forces. With the world situation the way it is today, no one knows when or how critical the need for blood plasma and derivatives will be when or if it comes. It is essential that an adequate supply be kept on hand so that our nation will be prepared for any emergency.

Even in our everyday lives, forgetting the threats of nuclear attack that we read on the front page each day, support of the blood program is necessary to cope with natural disasters which occur in our land from time to time. Hurricanes, tornadoes, fires, and many other tragedies of disaster scope require blood for victims. This will be available in adequate quantities only if areas like The Stroudsburgs all over the nation support the Bloodmobile when it is in their midst.

It's very easy to give—that others may live!

Opinions Of Other Editors

Our 'Average' Students

Dr. Francis Keppell, dean of education at Harvard University, has struck a timely blow in the interest of the "ordinary" student in our elementary schools. In recent years there has been much hullabaloo in education circles about taking care of the two extremes in our youngsters. Accelerated courses have been provided for gifted students. And special attention has been given—properly so—to the problems of the handicapped or retarded pupils.

In between these two groups is the great mass of average students and Dr. Keppell at a recent convention of school superintendents of New York state warned that schoolmen, in their solicitude for the gifted and the handicapped, must not allow these ordinary pupils to "get lost in the shuffle."

The Harvard dean's observation makes good sense. It is the duty of our school system to develop the capabilities of every student to the maximum and this means that our teachers' best efforts must be directed to bring the work of the average pupil up to his or her highest potential. Recognizing and nurturing the gifts of the "exceptional" student is certainly to be encouraged, but in the army of tomorrow's citizens we can't afford to have all generals—we'll need a lot of well trained privates and noncoms to fight the battles.

More Retreatism

The News Office of Columbia University has issued a mimeograph about an article by a sociologist, Professor Amitai Etzioni, which is another argument for retreatism. This disease, retreatism, is a moral degeneration which destroys a nation from within.

From the mimeograph, Dr. Etzioni's thesis is based upon the irrationality of man. In a word, if man were a rational creature, he would never respond emotionally to the stimuli of public disturbances. He would always react with sound judgment. For instance, Dr. Etzioni says:

"... a defeat-crazed leader—Hitler in his burning bunker, a dictator about to lose the last remnants of his semi-global empire—might still unleash the Domsday Bomb."

Why drag in Hitler? Why not say a crazed imitator of Napoleon Khrushchev, for instance, might set forth to destroy all the world, including himself. Thus far, nobody has appeared who is that crazy. Khrushchev is presently engaged blowing up bombs like a child fires off firecrackers on the Fourth of July, but he does his firing in remote places lest he damage his own country.

It would make more sense, if Khrushchev's nonsense becomes too troublesome, to blow him up than to retreat. There is no advantage in a retreat because the enemy will make life unlivable anyhow.

Dr. Etzioni maintains: "Most of my colleagues who are experts on these matters assert that the bombs we now have can wipe out civilization on one continent, if not the entire globe. (Herman) Kahn, though, insists that it will take ten more years to build the Domsday Machine."

So what is the answer? Shall we retreat before a mad enemy? Shall we surrender to him? Shall we give up our national existence? What would he have us do? What would seem to me that the alternative to meeting the enemy is to capitulate to him. In a word, here we have an argument for total retreatism—"It is better to be Red than dead."

As Dr. Etzioni lives in fear of a war by accident, the sanest thing to do is to commit suicide. An accident may occur anywhere, at any time; anybody might go crazy and blow up the world. If every night, before we go to bed, we have to think of that, we might just as well blow ourselves up now and not wait for the enemy to do it.

Cowards often do commit suicide because they have no other solution for their problems. We witnessed examples of that during the 1929 panic when men who were down to their last million jumped out of windows. The men, who did not commit suicide, survived the depression and are now sitting around worrying about what the inflation will do to their remaining assets.

Writes the learned professor: "... revenge-allowance is an effective safeguard if we view life through the rationalistic, cool, blue glasses of a game-theorist—not, however, when we view it through a flickering radar screen propped up against a wall of suspicion."

But how can we look "through rationalistic, cool, blue glasses" if we are frightened out of our wits? For it is Khrushchev's technique to scare us out of our wits; he is engaged in a campaign of terror. And there are those in this country who join him in the advocacy of terror. Their idea is to scare us into retreating before Khrushchev's threats. Professor Etzioni says: "The spread of nuclear arms is the surest road—via many small disasters, several maddening ones, or one big one—to Domsday."

But we might die before Domsday comes and thus we shall live out our lives without fear. Of course, a sociologist is likely to be pessimistic because he deals with a science which attempts to understand society. But it is undoubtedly history, psychology and philosophy which help one to understand society. And out of that understanding usually comes faith or pessimism which is the response of man to society. A society without faith in itself and its institutions is close to death. What retreatism offers us is a formula for death by suicide.

It is interesting to note that the professors who developed and produced nuclear fission and fusion are so scared by what they have done that the only solution they can find for their alchemy is to retreat before a wicked and mad enemy. Yet to retreat is suicide, not only national but individual suicide. Hitler, at any rate, waited to be defeated before he hit upon that solution.

The Pennsylvania Story

Still A Few Left Off The Record

By Mason Denison
(Little Red School House — Part 3)

Harrisburg — Near this Capital City plans are under way for the construction of a planetarium in an addition to be built to a new jointure high school.

Planetariums are expensive items. They haven't produced one yet that will grow on trees. Ever hear of a little old one-room red school house with a planetarium? Of course not.

However, does that mean it shouldn't be incorporated in schools being built today? Should swimming pools be included in schools of today and tomorrow?

No one of no controlling agency has the answer. In light of contemporary demands and needs, there are — perhaps amazingly — arguments, strong arguments, in favor of both the swimming pool and the planetarium, and there are arguments against the two.

Ultimate decision though as to "what is best or what should be" rests with the thousands of lay school board members throughout the state — not a special centralized agency, (such as the State Department of Public Instruction) which could spell out what the "optimum" must be for the horde of new schools now abuilding.

The swimming pool and the planetarium merely serve as "illustrations" of the point at which we are driving. What comprises a "good" school and what comprises a "monument"?

Along this line of "what should and what should not be" we are going to quote from a letter received from a Huntingdon County resident (duly signed, with address, etc.) which most certainly seems more than apropos at the moment:

"I am irked no end at the amount of money spent for fancy high-priced public school buildings. I am for education one hundred per cent, lots of good schools and teachers but sorely against waste of money on buildings. School children up to grades 12 do not appreciate nice buildings and furniture and as such this does not improve education."

A new school in Huntingdon, Pa. is just being put into use this fall. The furniture is so fine that the board of education is specifying type of clothing to be worn by children. As an illustration, dungarees cannot be worn because buttons will scratch furniture.

In discussing the waste of money on the beautiful buildings and furniture with one of the members of the board of education, I told him I felt the only requirements were good serviceable and comfortable furniture, the best possible teachers and teaching equipment, plus a good sturdy building that will withstand wind, keep out rain and cold.

"His answer was: 'Oh yes, but we must leave a monument or a mark of our civilization and have something for the community to be proud of. My answer was that the Egyptians left the pyramids, the Greeks the Coliseum, the inhabitants of Easter Island their great monuments of stone; all these were their marks of civilization, monuments of engineering and grandeur — but where are their people?'"

Where do you draw the line? Where should the line be drawn? "What should constitute the 'optimum' school unit of today? There are theories; there are ideas; there are as many theories and ideas as there are school boards in the state. What is the optimum rounded-out unit in light of contemporary educational goals?"

Should there be swimming pools; should there be planetariums; should furniture in schools be so touchy that clothing must be prescribed — these are only simple, easily understandable illustrations of the unanswered question of what should go into the "optimum" school of today?

Should Pennsylvania's schools be "monuments" — or should they be "optimum" functional monuments?

There is no requirement!

The Allen-Scott Report

Two-Administration Role Scrutinized In Jet Deal

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, Oct. 19.—President Kennedy's review of U.S.-Yugoslavia relations is shedding some interesting light on the amazing dual role that William P. Bundy, deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense, played in the controversial sale of jet fighters to Tito.

Bundy, who served as a top official in the Central Intelligence Agency's estimates division under the Eisenhower Administration, is the little-publicized brother of McGeorge Bundy, the President's special assistant for international affairs.

According to one high-level official working on the review, Bundy is the only official who took part in the policy making decision of both administrations on the sale of the jets to Communist Yugoslavia. As deputy to Assistant Secretary of Defense Paul Nitze, Bundy earlier this year reviewed the decision made by President Eisenhower and recommended that President Kennedy confirm the jet sale. While with the super-secret CIA, Bundy prepared a national intelligence estimate that was the basis for former President Eisenhower's decision to furnish this military aid to Tito.

This key CIA estimate took the line that it was better for the U.S. to provide the jets to Yugoslavia than for Tito to turn to the Soviet Union.

Bundy also used his own CIA estimate as the basis for his Defense Department recommendation supporting the earlier Eisenhower decision. This Bundy recommendation was vigorously supported in the White House by his brother, McGeorge Bundy.

The planes, F-86D Sabrejets, were sold for the bargain price of $10,000 each, or a total of $1,300,000. In addition, Tito is paying $324,000 to cover the training of pilots and maintenance crews in the U.S.

Note: The President's review of U.S.-Yugoslavia relations, which is scheduled to be completed in about three weeks, will determine whether Tito receives $140 million in economic aid this year.

Congressional Probe — The controversial jet sale, which became a matter of knowledge last week, is going to be thoroughly investigated by Congress.

Representative Paul Kitchin, D., N.C., chairman of a special House Investigating Committee, plans to grill Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the jet deal when he appears next week to testify on the administration's policy toward the export of strategic materials to the Soviet bloc.

Kitchin, who will also question Rusk about the export of missile bearings to Tito, plans to seek full details on the influence the CIA exerts on the State Department to support military shipments to Yugoslavia.

Already, subcommittee investigators have uncovered one instance where an export license was granted by the Commerce Department on the basis of a CIA estimate that later turned out to be completely wrong.

Also, Kitchin plans to question AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg on whether the U.S. is planning to provide Yugoslavia with two nuclear training reactors and fuel. Tito requested the reactors from the U.S. through the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The decision on what the U.S. should do on the reactors is now being debated at the highest level within the Kennedy Administration.

On The Inside — Casting a dark shadow over this and other inter-administration policy debates on Yugoslavia aid is a military intelligence report that flatly warns that Tito, despite his public differences with Moscow, is keeping close private contact with the Kremlin. In part, it states:

"The continuity even during the supposedly Stalin-Tito break was kept by the Yugoslav Deputy Prime Minister Moshe Pijade (now dead) and Lazar Kaganovich, deputy Prime Minister of the USSR. In recent years, Tito has kept in personal contact with Aleksandr N. Kosygin, a first Deputy Premier and the top man in Soviet industry. Kosygin made secret visits to Belgrade in 1959, 1960, and 1961.

"The Yugoslavs have constantly (even while they were taking our aid) preached the destruction of our system; Tito, and his ambassadors, are now encouraging socialism all over the world. This is consistent with Soviet foreign policy to establish socialist states in Africa and Asia."

Berlin Report—Before November 1, the U.S. plans to make a major test of Western right-of-access to West Berlin. The 1,500-man battle group sent over the autobahn to West Berlin will be replaced by another contingent. Both military units will travel over the East German highways.

In his private conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, President Kennedy wound up the talks by telling the Soviet official: "The English word 'compromise' means settlement reached by mutual concessions. I trust it means the same in Russian."

To which Gromyko replied: "You will have to consult a Soviet dictionary." Treasury officials here report that Emperor Haile Selassie's government has invested $2 million at 3.75 per cent interest in government bonds. The investment came less than a month after the Soviet Union granted Ethiopia a $2 million loan at 2.5 per cent interest.

Inside You And Yours

No Digestive Trouble!

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Bill had to loosen his belt four notches after gulping down breakfast. Then he'd dash off to catch the Commuters' Daily Special.

He had indigestion — even though he digested all food perfectly. "Indigestion" merely refers to nausea, heartburn, gas or pain in the pit of the stomach.

Indigestion isn't complicated. You may eat too much, eat too fast or gulp down chunks without chewing.

Air swallows and chain smokers often complain of bloating. So do addicts who get their kicks from beans, cabbage, turnips and onions!

Coated with fats or bloated with gas—and food—the stomach and intestine slide into slow motion. The stomach relaxes like an overstretched girdle.

Further Trouble
When Bill sprained his ankle last year, he had to loosen his belt five notches. Paralyzed with pain, his stomach blew up like a balloon.

An over-stretched stomach or esophagus can spark heartburn just below the breastbone. Because water stretches these tissues, it merely adds fuel to the fire.

The gassy stomach is bloated with swallowed air and, perhaps, soda — pop bubbles. Fermenting foods manufacture gas in the intestines. Straining to bring up intestinal gas makes you swallow extra air, bloating you still more!

Let your doctor pinpoint the trouble. Ulcer medicines don't help morning sickness. And bicarbonate can't relieve a that queasy feeling brought on by eyestrain.

Eat Carefully
Meanwhile, stay away from gas-forming foods. Eat slowly and grind down each bite between those powerful molars. No smoking before meals!

After dinner, a calm, relaxing smoke helps digestion. Small portions, appetizing dishes and a quiet, pleasant dining room are ideal prescriptions for indigestion.

Good Results
Your doctor's prescriptions can speed intestinal activity, release trapped gas and relieve queasiness.

Today, Bill wears a shorter belt. He wakes 45 minutes earlier to allow time to munch his breakfast. And that leisurely stroll to the station braces him for the day!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

'General' Adam Surprised On Return To Area Citadel

THE HUGE cake proclaimed appropriately: "Welcome Home, Brigadier Adam."

But only to the petite woman to whom the cake was dedicated did the words strike with all their truthfulness.

The cake was part of a celebration in behalf of Brigadier (General) May Adam (Adams), a widely-travelled Salvation Army officer who visited South America, Canada, the Mid-West and Pittsburgh area before settling down to her home town.

The only thing new about the officers' arrival was the new rank. She was her lovable self and the same samaritan she had been when she left the area.

The rank was Brigadier now. It was Major while she served as the local official of the Citadel.

But there was more. "There's an 'R' behind my name now," she said sprightly last night.

The "R" is for retirement which to Brig. Adam will not mean much. She plans to continue in any capacity she is capable while enjoying her home.

In all her traveling, Brig. Adam loved the Poconos so much that she decided to reside here in East Stroudsburg.

As a little girl, many years ago, Brig. Adam came to America from the shores of Scotland. She landed in New York and almost immediately began work with the Salvation Army.

When she was 19 years of age, she was called into Salvation Army work and went into training school from Tremont Corps and served in western New York area.

It was soon after she was assigned to South America — Buenos Aires in particular. Brig. Adam spent seven years there from 1924-1931.

Brig. Adam had thought she would be able to stay in Tres Arroyos (Three Streams) where she was a girl guard director and served as director of an orphanage in charge of 60 children.

She had learned the Spanish language but then, much to her sorrow, she was shipped to Montreal, Canada.

The stay in Canada was not long, and she moved to Pittsburgh as a corps officer.

Ill health forced Brig. Adam to the women's social service of the Salvation Army and she became a social officer. She diligently continued her work, however, at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Jersey City.

It was not until 1940 that Brig. Adam came to the local district when she served at Sayre and finally came to Stroudsburg in 1946.

Loves Area

Brig. Adam loved the area almost from the start and knew then that she would some day retire in the locale.

Her work still not complete Brig. Adam was assigned away from the Poconos, this time to Scranton, then Milton, and New York City. The span was eight years.

Her arrival back to The Citadel in East Stroudsburg on Monday was a happy one. Especially the welcome home party given by the Home League Society.

It was not hard to know where Brig. Adam was while serving in New York City. She opened work among the Spanish-speaking — which was short when she reached the retirement age and came back to her home.

In New York, the Spaniards gave Brig. Adam a "Queen For a Day" celebration prior to her departure. It was an event she will never forget nor the welcome home.

Stroud Union Board Airs Construction

BUILDING reports, an addition to the substitute list and authorization for plans for an addition to the present high school were the highlights of the Stroud Union School Board's meeting last night.

Superintendent Earl Groner said that the B. F. Morey and Hamilton Township Elementary Schools' additions, were well ahead of schedule. He said that the buildings are expected to be ready for use well in advance of September, 1962.

Following a discussion on the crowded conditions at the high school, the board voted to start planning for an addition to the building.

Planning for this addition will be a long and drawn out procedure, Groner pointed out. It is not expected that construction will start before two or three years.

He also said that the entire program could be dropped by the board at any time if there were a decline in school population or for any other number of reasons.

The first steps are only studies and forms to be filled out for the state to make the necessary decisions.

The board also voted to add Mrs. William Sheeley's name to the list of substitute teachers in the elementary schools.

Bloodmobile At CLU Tomorrow

THE BLOODMOBILE, under the auspices of the Monroe County Chapter, American Red Cross, will make a regular visit in the area tomorrow at the Central Labor Union Club. Hours of the visit are from 10:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., and residents of the area may donate blood any time during these hours.

It has been suggested that those who wish to donate eat lightly beforehand; avoid heavy meals or greasy foods. Fruit juices and the like are very helpful.

Each potential donor will be registered by the clerical staff, following which qualified technicians and nurses, under a doctor's supervision, check temperature, blood pressure and hemoglobin content of their blood before they are passed on to donate blood. A short medical history is also taken. If for any medical reason, the donor should not give blood, he is notified immediately.

Necessary, Beneficial
The medical examination is necessary and beneficial for two reasons. First, it assures the quality of the blood taken, making certain that it will be beneficial rather than detrimental to the person who eventually receives it. Secondly, it offers somewhat of a medical check on the donor himself. Acceptance of the donor indicates that, basically, he is physically fit.

The actual donation of the blood is completely painless and not injurious in any way to the donor's system.

Officials of the Monroe County Chapter have suggested that many of the industrial plants in the area may wish to give employees an hour off and attend the Bloodmobile in a group representative of their company. If this is desired, it is suggested that Joseph DeRenzis, chairman of the visit, be contacted at Hamilton 1-4690 and arrangements be made to accommodate the group in the time allowed.

It is imperative that the County make its quota at this visit.

May Dispose Blue Law Cases

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Samuel Halpern said yesterday he aims for quick disposal of about 200 Sunday blue law cases pending in Chester County. The way to this goal was paved by the Supreme Court's reaffirmation of the Pennsylvania ban on certain kinds of Sunday merchandising.

The high court declined yesterday to reconsider decisions last May upholding Pennsylvania laws, and similar ones in Maryland and Massachusetts. Appeals for reconsideration came from Two Guys from Harrison, a discount company with stores in Allentown and New Jersey, and five Philadelphia merchants, who are orthodox Jews.

Halpern will consult with Judge Thomas Guthrie on the status of the cases in which the defendants gave appeal bonds of about $35,000, twice the total of fines imposed.

Jive Still Alive, But Plain Talk Tops

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Inc.

LET'S TAKE off for my pad. There are no clutzes and you don't need any bread. We'll have a cool, groovy or perhaps even mellow time."

Translation:
"Let's go to my house. There is no one in the way and you don't need any money. We'll have a great, real great or perhaps even exceptionally great time."

That's jive talk, the subject of our latest nation-wide poll of American teen-agers, supposedly the largest group in the country to use that colorful and often mysterious language.

We say supposedly because, while jive is still widely spoken by the youngsters, a large segment of the younger generation told us that plain old fashioned English is good enough for them.

About three in eight of the 973 polled said they never speak jive themselves and more than half (52 percent) said their friends rarely, if ever, drop a jivy phrase into their speech.

We asked them first of all for their definitions of jive talk—and found that their opinions didn't differ too radically from those expressed by Mr. Webster in his most recently published dictionary.

He defines it as: "... glib, deceptive or foolish talk... a special jargon of difficult or slang terms."

So What's Jive?

Jive talk, to Nancy Gray, 17, of Detroit, is "words used with meanings other than those in the dictionary."

"It's the younger generation's more expressive language to put emphasis on something," said Carol A. White, 17, of New York City.

It's talk that the older generation does not understand," defined Nancy Marie Harrington, 14, of Boone, Iowa — and she added: "The teen-agers like it that way."

"Jive talk," said Gil Clays, 18, of Detroit, drawing a deep breath, "is a completely artificial conglomeration of allegory and metaphor used by certain ethnic groups to provide local color."

Why do the youngsters use jive talk?

Roger Berman, 15, of Hartford, Conn., thinks it's "one method of achieving identification with the group."

Stephen Bush, 14, of New

I MAINTAIN THAT SO-CALLED JIVE TALK IS SIMPLY A MEANS OF TEEN-AGERS COMMUNICATING IN A LANGUAGE OF THEIR OWN...

IT'S SEEKING IDENTIFICATION...

A COMPLETELY ARTIFICIAL CONGLOMERATION OF ALLEGORY AND METAPHOR USED BY CERTAIN ETHNIC GROUPS TO PROVIDE LOCAL COLOR

LIKE NOBODY DIGS ME...

York, had the same idea only he expressed it in jive talk. "It's to be a real swingin cat," he said.

"I suppose," said 15-year-old Caryl Ann Wise of Houston, "it's a way for teen-agers to communicate with a language of their own."

Suzanne Harvey, 15, of Boone, Iowa, said she figures the kids use jive talk simply to be different.

The jive word "pad," meaning house or home, appears to be the most widely used and understood.

Eighty percent of the teen-agers told us they would be sure to include "pad" in their jive talk dictionary, if they were ever called upon to compile one. "Cool," defined as sharp or nice, was a dictionary must with 31 percent; "bread," meaning money, drew 25 percent, "tough," for terrific, had 19 percent; and "fuzz," for policeman, had 14 percent.

Generally, jive talk is spoken more by boys than girls.

Roughly three out of five of the boys told us their friends used the odd lingo quite a lot while less than two out of five girls said they hear it frequently from their companions.

Yet most of the youngsters admitted that they have pet jive expressions.

Anything good is often "fabulous" to 17-year-old Orleen Manchur of Detroit.

Jerry Kiernan, 15, of Hartford, Conn., likes to "take off" rather than leave.

Scott Ritchie, 16, of Detroit, likes to "dig" (understand) and be "hip" (in the know).

And when Gil Clays of Detroit calls you a "clutz" watch out. He means you're in the way.

Questions Asked

What is your definition of jive talk?

Do your friends use much jive talk?

What is the purpose of jive talk?

If you were planning to make a jive talk dictionary, what words would you include in it?

Do you have any pet expressions in jive talk? What are they? What do they mean?

Teeners Show Interest In Art Center

Gilbert Youth Service

UTICA, N. Y.—A many-faceted program in the arts is absorbing the interests of hundreds of teen-agers in this upstate New York city, and the results are spilling over into the youngsters' homes.

From a casual beginning in art study afternoons after school, the offerings of the Munson-Williams, Proctor Institute have now mushroomed so that high school students are making the art center their evening headquarters.

On Wednesday nights, students study painting, ceramics, and sculpture. The musically-minded play in a youth orchestra sponsored by the Institute, and the specially-talented have an opportunity to give recitals.

For a dollar a year membership, students under 16 may become junior associate members of the Institute, and borrow art reproductions and record albums for home enjoyment.

When the Institute sponsors its great artists of six concerts, balcony seats are reserved for students at a very low ticket charge.

In the summer thousands of young people are in the audience at the Utica Arts Festival, where the nine-day program offers folk dances, jazz concerts, serious drama, and art demonstrations.

Straighten Up! Slouching Hurts Posture

(Gilbert Youth Service)

TALL, SKINNY teen-agers who slump to conceal the fact they're heads above the crowd and chunky teen-agers who stare at their feet hoping the world won't notice they're not good-looking, are selling themselves short.

If they'd pull themselves up straight, says Eileen Ford, operator of a top-flight model agency in New York, their poor points would be overlooked and their erect posture immediately admired.

Mrs. Ford, who says "there is no such thing as a good model with bad posture," notices immediately the walk of the would-be aspirants for cover girl. And usually it's excellent. Walking with a book on the head is still the best recipe for good posture, Mrs. Ford says. Just five minutes a day will do wonders, even if at first the teen-ager feels he's separated from his feet.

The Daily Record, The Stroudsburg, Pa. — Thurs., Oct. 19, 1961

Another Trick

Another trick for the student and others leading a desk life is to stop work and slide both hands behind the shoulders and as far down the shoulder blades as possible, keeping elbows bent. Immediately the back straightens, the unwelcome hump at the back of the neck disappears, and with it goes muscle fatigue.

Tall teen-agers in particular should take comfort from Mrs. Ford's work with a battery of beauties. Her models are five feet seven or five feet eight, and look even taller because they must stay skinny for the camera. Their good posture shows the world they're proud of being tall. And why not? Says Mrs. Ford: "There are no short cover girls."

Slumping to her connotes laziness. Conversely, a straight back is a habit, which once acquired in the teens will remain for the rest of life.

Monroe County Death Rate Below Statewide Average

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — For what ever consolation it may be worth, the death rate in Monroe County last year was below the all-county statewide average.

This was indicated today in a detailed county-by-county survey just completed by the State Department of Health on mortality in the Keystone State — which showed the death rate for Monroe County last year, accounting for 167 such fatalities, was 10.74 per 100,000 population, compared with the statewide rate of 10.74 deaths per 100,000 population.

Deaths within the county last year decreased from 1959, dropping from 403 in 1959 to 398 in 1960, the department survey showed.

Diseases of the heart proved to be the leading cause of death in Monroe County last year, accounting for 167 such fatalities. Cancer ranked second with 69 deaths, and cerebral hemorrhage third with 51 deaths.

Pneumonia, Influenza
Pneumonia and influenza ranked next with 17 deaths followed by diabetes and accidents with 12 deaths each. (Accidents included four deaths resulting from motor vehicle accidents and eight deaths from accidents other than motor vehicle.)

A few other selected causes of death in Monroe County last year follow:

Diseases of early infancy, ten deaths; general arteriosclerosis, six; congenital malformations, five; suicide, four; nephritis, four; inflammation of the kidney, four; cirrhosis of the liver, four; hypertension without heart disease, one; multiple sclerosis, one; tuberculosis, one; and ulcers of stomach and duodenum, one.

Ordered To Pay Commonwealth
HARRISBURG (AP) — The Reading Co. has been ordered by Dauphin County Court to pay Commonwealth $25,633 in unclaimed funds due stockholders, bondholders and employees.

In his order President Judge William H. Neely contended the rightful owners of the money are either unknown or cannot be located. Claimants would have three years to seek reimbursement, even after the state gets the money, Neely said.

The Commonwealth claimed the funds under the escheats law seven years ago, but proceedings had been delayed by companion litigation attacking statutory provisions of the law.

The firm and the Commonwealth agreed to payment of the funds in three installments of $30,000 each on Oct. 25, Nov. 25 and Dec. 25. The balance is to be paid by Jan. 18, 1962.

Now A New World of Worth from Chevrolet

New Impala Sport Sedan—fresh-shaped elegance with Body by Fisher craftsmanship

Jaunty new beauty with a road-gentling ride! JET-SMOOTH '62 CHEVROLET

In came the new '62 Chevrolet—and out went the days when you had to plunk down a big bundle to ride around feeling like a king.

Look at that fresh styling—clean, graceful, tasteful, isn't it? Imagine opening one of those big solid doors, slipping in, sinking down in those sofa-wide seats and taking in the rich new decor. Now, you switch on your engine—a fuel-shy 135-hp. Six or a hustling 170-hp. V8 (both are standard) or your choice of new V8 vigor up to an optional-at-extra-cost 409-hp. whirlwind—and go, man, go.

Isn't that Jet-smooth ride something, though? At each wheel a big steely coil spring turning the road into cream and over 700 sound and vibration insulators turning the car into one big quiet zone.

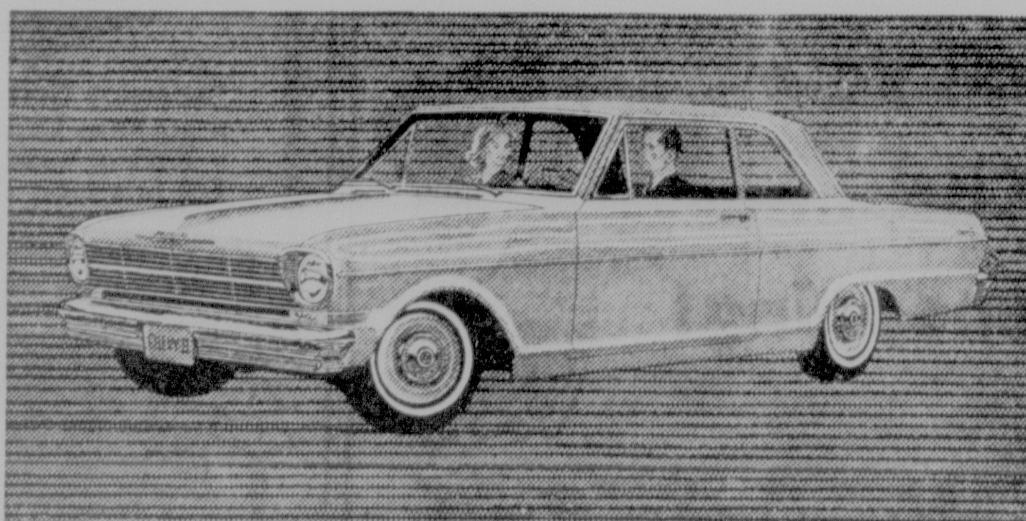

Ahead of you are front fenders with steel underskirts that give extra protection against rust, slush and stones (what won't our engineers come up with next!). Behind you there's that goods-gobbling deep-well trunk. Really, about all the new Jet-smooth '62 Chevrolet leaves to be desired is—a prompt powwow with your Chevrolet dealer.

Sturdy, stylish and a stickler on savings!

THE NEW CHEVY II

How ruggedly simple and dependable can a car get? Here's the answer nicely packaged in a sprightly new line of new-size cars—nine models including sedans, station wagons and the soon-to-be-available hardtop and convertible.

They're packed with all the dependability you know you can count on from the Chevrolet family. And they sport many a neat engineering feat. For instance, sturdy easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs that eliminate the rubbing and squeaking of multi-leaf springs. Front fenders that bolt on for easy, economical replacement. A low-weight, high-strength body with room to rival that of many a recent-model big car. A fuel nursing 90-hp. 4-cylinder engine or a sassier 120-hp. 6 (you have a choice in most models). If you're ready to do some plain and fancy saving, just have your Chevrolet dealer talk Chevy II to you.

Evergreens Turn Brown

By George Abraham
EVERGREEN BROWNING: This is the time of year we receive many letters asking why evergreens start to turn brown. Keep in mind that all evergreens must shed their leaves at some time, and they do this by shedding part of them while the remainder stay green on the tree. Arborvitae is a good example of an evergreen staying both green and brown this time of year.

You'll notice that browning takes place only on the inside. The outside stays green, and this is natural. When an evergreen starts to brown off all over, then it's a sign of trouble. Ants in the soil can cause browning by drying out the roots. Chlordane or dieldrin in the soil will banish them.

Newly planted evergreen in a windy spot are apt to windburn or desiccate from a lack of water. Wrapping with burlap or using a burlap screen will do a lot to cut down on this type of injury. Spraying with a plastic spray does a good job keeping moisture inside the tree.

Evergreens on windy corners take a beating from sun and wind during fall and winter months. If the color of your house is white, evergreens get hit twice by sun's rays. First, from the direct rays and again from rays reflected from the white siding. If evergreens are protected by a burlap screen and sun injury is lessened, and if sprayed with the plastic "wilt-proofing" sprays you get the same protection, since water loss is cut down.

FREE: Want to know more about saving evergreens from winter damage? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of my bulletin, "How To Protect Evergreens From Winter Injury." No clippings or loose stamps, please! PLASTIC BAG TIP: A reader writes: "Here's another tip on using old plastic bags: If you like to collect your own seeds, drop the seed heads of salvia, delphinium and other small-seeded plants into a perforated plastic bag. Then twist the open end tight, and ruffle the bag with your hands. Seeds will dribble out of the holes and on to a piece of paper, free of chaff."

A SAD DISEASE: Roadbuilders have a sad and bad disease known as bulldozers. They uproot stately trees whether they are in the way or not. And the worse part of it is, that in most cases, no effort is made to replace our lost trees. People living in communities suffer mostly from the effects of bulldozers.

In fact tests from 123 meteorology stations show the communities with good stand of trees have wind velocities up to 40% lower than areas without trees. Besides acting as a windbreak, trees and shrubs also cut down on noise and dust from streets. If anyone cuts down one of your shade trees for the sake of "progress" agitate to have a good replacement planted immediately.

WINTERING MUMS: What's the best way to keep garden mums over the winter? Cushion-type varieties are hardy and need no winter care. The other garden mums classed as hardy are not always hardy. To me, it's not really the winter cold that always kills mums, but rather poorly drained soils. Heavy soils retain more moisture and more mums die out, or rather "smother" out in such soils. I've seen many gardeners dig up clumps of their mums and allow them to rest on top of the ground all winter. They keep better this way than they if they rest in a puddle of water.

In severe climate the best way to winter mums is to dig them up and place close together in a coldframe. We keep ours in an unheated glass house where the mums keep well all winter. In the spring they start sending up new shoots and these are broken off (when 2 or 3 inches tall) and stuck in flats of sand for rooting. Rooted cuttings make giant-size plants by time fall rolls around.

SPLIT LEAF PHLODENDRONS: These plants can be cantankerous during fall and winter months. Yellowing of the leaves can mean too much water or not enough. A dry soil can cause brown spots along the edges, whereas a soggy soil will make foliage pale yellow. A slightly damp soil is best if you're trying to strike a happy medium.

Philodendrons need intense, though filtered, light, if kept at high room temperatures. Otherwise, the leaves will grow smaller and smaller and the vines start to be stringy. A weak or yellowish color in leaves in an otherwise healthy plant indicates too much light. However, if the same condition exists, but the whole plant seems wilted and soft-bodied, this means too much heat and not enough humidity.

As a final word, don't try to grow them in the same planter as you would "dry" plants such as cacti, or with plants which can take a lot of water. If you do, you'll either overwater or underwater them.

HOUSE PLANTS: Many old-timers ask us why it is that years ago everyone could get geraniums and other house plants to blossom, but today it's difficult. In those days the house was heated with wood stoves, and usually the bedrooms were unheated. Humidity was higher in the home then, and plants bloomed all winter. Today's home is drier than the Sahara desert.

In a greenhouse humidity is 60% or more. The proper humidity; should be from 35 to 40%, but it goes as low as 12% in many homes. This is 8 to 11% lower than the relative humidity in the great African Desert, and while it may be fine for camels, it's much too dry for human or plant comfort. You can increase the humidity indoors by growing plants near or on galvanized or zinc trays filled with crushed stone or pebbles. And don't forget the old kitchen kettle.

It used to sing songs and make plants peppy through the extra humidity. Plants themselves help release moisture into a room, and they also release oxygen. These are two good reasons for growing plants in the home. Don't believe that old wives' tale about plants being harmful in hospitals or sickrooms. There's nothing of it.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. E. of Stroudsburg: "Our garden soil is clayey and it doesn't seem to grow plants well. I was told that it needed more earthworms and organisms in it for better growth. Please tell me how I should go about this."

Your big job is to get as much humus or organic matter into the soil as possible. When you add rotted compost, peat, leaf-mold and similar materials you greatly increase the micro-organism population in the earth. There's no need to buy commercial preparations for fortifying the soil, because your soil already has billions of organisms in it.

In fact, if you went out and scooped up a handful right now you'd have 25 billion living organisms in it. Adding more organisms to your soil is like dropping a grape into the ocean to raise the water level.

Earthworms ("angleworms") are fine for the soil, and I think they do some good. However, I wouldn't recommend buying "hybrid" earthworms because there is no such thing on earth, even though claims are made for their ability to improve the soil. Good gardeners find that by combining organic matter with plant foods they can grow all kinds of plants successfully.

F. G. of Wind Gap: "I have a few small geranium plants started from slips and don't know what kind of soil they prefer. If potted now will they grow well indoors and be o.k. for Memorial Day?"

Yes, pot them in a 1/3 sand, 1/3 loam mixture, and grow them in the brightest window you have. Geraniums will tolerate being neglected when it comes to watering, but they flower earlier and do best if watered regularly. Yours will make fine plants by Memorial Day.

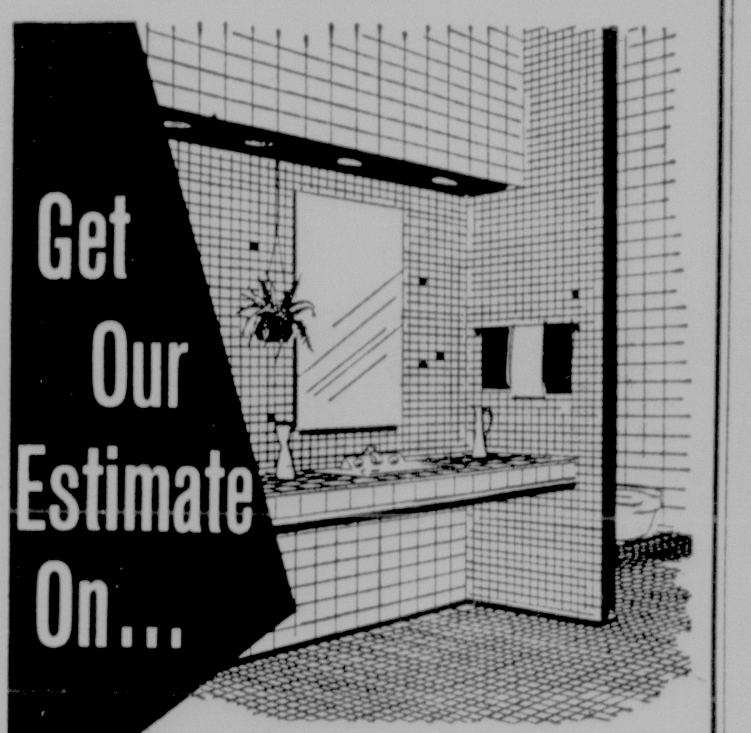

You should pinch the tips out of the plants once or twice between now and May, to induce bushiness. Gardeners who pulled up their outdoor geraniums should store them in perforated plastic bags in the coolest part of the cellar, near light from a window.

A bit of moss in the bottom (moistened just once or twice during the winter) will keep the plants alive and in a good dormant state until February when the tops are cut back and remaining plants are potted for outdoor planting.

D. E. of Portland: "We divided our peonies this fall. Should we put a straw mulch over them?"

It won't be necessary. If they heave out of the soil due to freezing and thawing, you can press them back into the earth in spring and they'll grow well for you. Do not put a straw mulch on tulips, delphiniums, iris, mums or other perennials because they may smother out, or may be bothered by mice.

Area Cancer Unit Delegates To Attend State Convention

FIVE representatives of the Monroe County Unit, American Cancer Society, will attend the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Division, ACS, in Bedford, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 21 and 22.

About 300 Unit presidents, delegates and executive directors will assemble for business and study sessions at the 26-hour meeting, the theme of which will be "Communications, the Key to Cancer Control."

Attending from Monroe County will be: Mr. J. Joseph McCluskey, President; Dr. James C. Fahl, Vice President; Dr. Elmo Lilli, Delegate, also Mrs. Fahl and Mrs. Lilli.

3 Major Addresses

Three major addresses will be heard by the conference.

Bela Gold, Ph. D., professor of industry and economic research of the University of Pittsburgh, will lead off the program Saturday noon with "Communications and the American Cancer Society." Dr. Gold has done extensive research on formal and informal communication patterns in industry and in government agencies.

Speaker at the Saturday dinner will be Major General James P. Cooney, M.D., vice president for medical affairs of the National Society, who was with the U.S. Army's chief surgeon in Europe before his recent retirement. He will survey highlights in the history of cancer and its treatment. Chauncey G. Bly, Ph. D., M.D., president of Thiel College, Greenville, Pa., will be the final speaker Sunday noon. Dr. Bly was the first fellow of the American Cancer Society's medical fellowship program. A pathologist, he has taught and done cancer research at three medical colleges.

Future Of Society His talk will project what the future of the American Cancer Society may be, depending upon what methods of controlling or curing cancer are developed by researchers.

The business session of the Pennsylvania Division annual meeting will include an annual delegates meeting to consider and act upon broad policies of the Society in Pennsylvania, and to elect board members.

A board of directors meeting will follow, where officers of the Division will be elected.

At the same time as the board is meeting, others attending the meeting will take part in discussion groups considering how to improve communications within the Society, and between the Society and the people it is trying to educate about cancer.

To date better than 50% of the goal has been realized and matching funds from the Kresge Foundation are still available. It was learned from William Fisher, treasurer and a member of the committee.

Miss Maryjane Everett, school librarian, is in charge of reference book purchases being made as funds are available.

During this school term the library is estimated as being 35% stocked with the books requested by department heads in the junior-senior high school.

The library may be dedicated to a public-spirited or community-minded individual who completes the goal sum in honor of another individual or family name.

Mrs. Nevin Dorshimer, vice president, announced the appointment of Mrs. Marvin Krome as chairman of a card party which will be held in the school cafeteria, Saturday, Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Space Age Alloys Are Developed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. disclosed yesterday the development of what it calls a new family of space age alloys.

The new materials are alloys of columbium (niobium), one of the new metals noted for its strength and corrosion resistance at very high temperatures.

Dr. S. W. Herwald, vice president-research, said columbium is a key space age material.

The alloys of no other metal show greater promise as structural materials for manned space vehicles and nuclear-powered space craft of the future," he said.

Compared to most refractory metals, Herwald said, the new alloys are light in weight, with a density about equal to stainless steel. Yet, he added, they can operate at temperatures in the range of 1,800 to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit, or about 1,000 degrees above the operating temperatures of such steels.

Elks To Act On Document Tonight

SAMUEL J. Zaccaro, exalted ruler of BPO Elks No. 319, East Stroudsburg said that the declaration of American principles, drafted by the Grand Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be acted upon by his lodge at a meeting tonight.

A copy of the declaration was received from Vincent Grocott, of Santa Barbara, Calif., chairman of the Grand Lodge's Americanism Committee, which drew up the declaration as a move by the Order of Elks to put freedom on the initiative in the war for survival with communism.

Foresees Endorsement
Zaccaro said that he had studied the document and that he was confident that it would receive the overwhelming and enthusiastic endorsement of his lodge as well as Elks everywhere.

The document emphasizes freedom and moral values as the basis of our society, stresses the responsibilities and duties of each individual citizen including obedience to lawful process, warns against growth of governmental power at the expense of freedom, and condemns group rivalries seeking preferment, through governmental action as being divisive and dangerous to the nation.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Page the Pied Piper! Hamlet was never so beleaguered. Not by rats, but by field mice who at the first frost have rounded up all their relatives and moved in with me. The cat is off on some mysterious business of his own and, alone, I'm no match for mice.

It isn't that I go in a panic. Individually and out doors, I can even admire them, mildly. They have cute ears and bright eyes and if they had fluffy tails in stead of those repulsive wormy ones, they could be just as cute as rabbits or squirrels or chipmunks.

But in hordes and in the house they're disturbing, to say the least. They run up and down the walls, carry loud speakers to magnify the sound of their gnawing, and roll nuts around until it sounds like a bowling alley.

It's a big house, and theoretically there should be room enough for us all — but we're continually running into each other unexpectedly. "Sneak!" go the mice and "Eek!" go I before we head in the other direction. The only advantage they have is that I can't get under the piano, and they can and do.

Sensible people have suggested traps or that poisoned grain but I have more of a horror of dead mice than live mice. Particularly since a couple of them didn't read the instructions on that poisoned grain: "The effect of the poison is to make the mice thirsty so they go out to find water and die outside the house".

Well, these didn't and the problem of finding out just where they had died is not one which I'd want to face again.

And the trouble with traps is that I catch my finger trying to set them, and can't bring myself to empty them if they work on the mice. I noticed by the paper that Peter Westbrook has been called for jury duty. Do you suppose that, combined with the fact that he was very good at emptying mousetraps, would be enough to persuade the Army that we need him more than they do?

If not, somebody better think of something else pretty quick or the Berlin crisis is going to seem pretty tame.

Coolbaugh Elementary PTA Plans Fall Activities

Tobyhanna—Walter Melnikoff, president of the Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers, was the speaker at the meeting of the Coolbaugh Elementary Center PTA this week. He discussed problems to be brought before the convention Oct. 22 to 25 in Allentown, and discussed educational problems in general.

The lack of an executive secretary in Harrisburg to represent PTA views before the legislature was a handicap to PTA aims, he said.

Mrs. John Planchok presided at the business meeting when Robert Fairservice was elected as the new vice president.

Principal Samuel Lee explained the new schedule of transportation to be set up and the new school hours from 9:15 to 3:15.

Plans were made for a family Halloween dance to be held in the school auditorium on Sat., Oct. 28 with Mrs. Vincent Costanza as chairman and Mrs. John Davis of tickets. It will start with the Grand Parade, promptly at 7:30, with prizes for the prettiest, funniest and most original costume. There will be a present for each child.

A combo will play from 7:30 to 11. Plans were also made for a Thanksgiving bake sale to be held Nov. 18 at the Mount Pocono A&P with Mrs. John Gross as chairman. A committee will call for donations and there will be a pick-up service for baked goods.

Another suggested project is dancing classes to be sponsored by the PTA to be held on Saturdays at the school. Karen Roth, dance instructor, spoke on the development of the dance and the benefits to be derived from lessons.

Refreshments were served by the first grade homeroom mothers with Mrs. Paul Melton and Mrs. Earl Nixon as chairmen, using the theme of pumpkins. Fall leaves and candles for decorations.

The meeting on Nov. 20 will be an open house with a panel discussion on the future of elementary education.

Stroud PTA Studying Legislation

The importance of legislation for education was stressed in both the program and discussion at the meeting of the Stroud Union Parent-Teachers Assn. this week at the high school.

Walter Melnikoff, president of the Monroe County Council of PTA, in reviewing the history of the PTA movement, said that the PTA was ineffective in spite of its large number of members, urging that it be represented in Harrisburg to promote legislation for better education.

The Governor's Committee on Education report had 147 recommendations to be considered for future legislation, he pointed out. He was introduced by Russell Pritchard, former president of the County PTA Council.

A spirited discussion on the pros and cons of U.S. Senate Bill S 991 Section 202 was held with the consensus being that deductions on Federal Income Tax for expenses incurred in providing higher education up to $2,000 would be of more value to taxpayers than a broad scholarship program.

Mrs. Andrew Keiser presided at the meeting. Mrs. Elwood German was elected voting delegate to the State PTA Convention to be held in Allentown next week.

Mrs. Keiser thanked the committee who addressed the teenage code: Mrs. Douglas Gordon, Mrs. R. V. Duncan, Mrs. Joseph Yutz, Mrs. Carolyn Shafer, Mrs. Edward Rahn and Mrs. John Widdoss.

Members were reminded of the rummage sale to be held Nov. 2 and 3 at Richard's Garage, Main St., Stroudsburg.

The Future Teachers Assn. of Stroud Union has accepted the responsibility of serving as guides at the Open House on Nov. 6 from 7:15 to 8:15 and for collecting memberships for the PTA at that time.

Mrs. Edwin Buck was chairman of the 11th grade mothers who served as hostesses.

Public Celebration Is All For Mrs. All This Time

When Carroll and Berenice All first came to Stroudsburg in 1928, Main Street was decorated with flags and banners, bands were playing and the streets were lined with hundreds of people. "It was a warm welcome," Berenice All recalls "even though we learned later it was for a firemen's convention," not to celebrate our arrival.

However, the flags will be up again tonight figuratively and the bands playing and this time it will be in her honor when the Business and Professional Woman's Club honors Mrs. All as their woman-of-the-month, at the dinner meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

A schedule was set up for the year. The members plan to work on cancer dressings at some of their meetings and will bring white elephants for sale at each meeting.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ray Herman, Mrs. Arthur Green, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. John Wagner, Mrs. Otto Paulsen, Mrs. Harry Dreher and Mrs. Clara Miller.

materialized in Laurel Manor," she said, adding "We can all take pride in the home."

In addition to her work with the Business and Professional Woman's Club of which she is a past president, Mrs. All has also served many other groups.

She is past president of the Anna Logan Hospital Society, and the Stroudsburg Music Study Club. She is a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army, the Mental Health Assn. and Laurel Manor.

She is also a member of the Scroptmist Club, and the Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs. Her personal interests outside of her family, her work, and the club activities, include cooking, especially baking bread; growing African violets; listening to music, and bridge.

One of those changes for which she was in large measure responsible was the opening of Laurel Manor. In her work, she realized the need for a home for the aged where they could have clean surroundings and proper food and care.

The Wyckoff Shopper

The next-to-new sale at the Smithfield School, Minisink Hills, will be continued today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This column is being written (along with scads of other material) on the hectic Tuesday preceding the start of our big October Sale. I doubt very seriously that anyone will be around to read it. Mornings at 9:30, when they usually have their second cup of coffee and newspaper (after the kiddies have left for school), most Mothers will, I am sure, be tearing instead to Wyckoff's and a personal inspection of all those wonderful things that are October Sale-priced.

The marked down "goodies," and the special buys on truly lovely, gifty items, are terrific. I mean it! But we have some new, regularly priced stock that's pretty exciting and wonderful too, so I hope our bargain hungry customers will make it a point to REALLY look around. For instance, we have something very new and beautiful in our Cosmetic department—the Roller-ama roll-top perfume flacon for the purse. These are quite as jewel-like, revolutionary, and necessary as were the precious-jewel lipstick containers a certain cosmetic company introduced a few years ago. As a matter of fact, they are not unusual in design.

The perfume containers are about the size of a large lipstick, and are of jeweler's metal. One, at only 3.50, is lacquered in brilliant red touched with gold. Another is brushed gold, at the same price. Some are white gold, others are yellow gold, and some are a combination of both, with the design in one color on a background of the other. One of the most stunning is a combination of gold and black. Prices begin at 3.50, and go to 5.00, 7.50, and 10.00.

Those who have previously used a roll-on dispenser (much tinier, but on the principle of the Ban bottle) will recognize the handiness of these. I am sure, plus the fact that they will not spill. The top unscrews, however, to permit a refilling of the encased bottle with one's favorite scent.

I am terribly enthusiastic about them all, and so are our girls in Cosmetics. Ask to see them! They would make excellent gifts—at a personal shower for the bride, for a graduate, for the toe of a Christmas stocking, for a co-worker who rates a moderately priced but thoughtful remembrance, and for the one you love most, YOU! And, if you really want to be a good Sal, don't stop with the falcon!—also give the perfume of the recipient's choice.

I wonder if you, who use Charles of the Ritz cosmetics, know that this company manufactures an excellent shampoo? Right now I have a sample tucked in my handbag for my daughter to try. She is the hair-washingest child I know, probably because she has a terrific oil problem as do most girls in their early teens. Helen Diamond suggests this shampoo, and the manufacturer recommends it for everything from normal to dry and tinted hair. Which is where my daughter's Mother comes in!

The Bobbs-Merrill Company has sent me the announcement of a forthcoming book called "The Single Women" which sounds as though every unmarried female among us might do well to read it and perhaps bolster the ego. "Unlikely as it sounds," the author Phyllis L. Rosentour writes, "the women likeliest to wind up single are the very ones who seem best suited to the state of matrimony. If a girl is fastidious and steadfast, stuffed with high ideals and ethics; if she is honestly romantic, and intelligent to boot, there's a substantial chance that she'll decide she doesn't want to be a bride."

Continuing her study, the author states that recent tests have shown "single girls possessed better emotional adjustment, greater self-reliance, a greater sense of personal freedom, and fewer withdrawal tendencies than their married sisters." And she goes on to say that the American Institute of Family Relations reports that "one quarter of all the single women interviewed were easily better looking than any of the married women. Although there were some who certainly wouldn't win beauty contests, the group as a whole was above average" and all but 20% had had one or more proposals of marriage.

All of this is fine for the ego of spinsters, widows, divorcees and such. But I am moved to wonder if the author is a MISS who maybe is helping to argue her own case for single-blessedness. I hope to read the book, due out on October 23rd, and learn. It might well be that all we unmarrieds are just so darned near perfect no mere male could (or would) stand us!

Saylor System Full of Bugs

THIS IS THE last year the Pennsylvania State College conference will use the Saylor Rating Systems to determine the ranking of its teams.

The Saylor System rates a team on the number of victories and the strength of the opposition. The system on paper is good but in practice is impractical.

This week Kutztown rates ahead of Mansfield in the standings, even though it has a poorer record. Kutztown has won only three games in two years and is 2-2 this season. Mansfield was unbeaten until last week when East Stroudsburg dropped the Mounties. East Stroudsburg also whipped Kutztown this season and by a much larger score than it trimmed Mansfield. But still the Saylor System rates Kutztown ahead of Mansfield.

Why Not A Maguire Memorial Field?

When East Stroudsburg State completes the revamping job on its football field, why not name the layout, Maguire Memorial Field, in honor of Dr. Frank Maguire, who died recently. Dr. Maguire taught and coached for many years at the college and deserves the honor of having the field named for him.

The first indoor intercollegiate football game since 1939 will be played in Atlantic City's Convention Hall in December. It will send Pennsylvania Military College against King's Point Merchant Marine Academy.

The game promoters are spending $15,000 to build a regulation football field inside the hall.

Bounty payments for gray foxes, red foxes and great-horned owls will be discontinued from Oct. 28 through December, the Pennsylvania Game Commission says.

The commission feels that during the hunting season sportsmen voluntarily shoot predaceous birds and animals to protect other wildlife and the bounty is not necessary.

Pro Bowling League Starts Slowly

The new American Bowling League is off to a slow start. In the first week of operation the professional loop failed to draw anything near a capacity crowd in any of the 10 league cities.

Perhaps one of the biggest reasons for lack of attendance was the inability of teams to land name bowlers.

The big bowling names have generous contracts with their sponsors and would lose them if they hooked up with a pro team. Tamiment is doing something about cleaning up the brutal rough that runs between several holes.

Nine Days Of Truck Trips

This week the rough between the 11th and 17th holes was filled in with top soil and in the Spring it will be planted with grass. It took nine days and 657 truck loads of soil to fill the area.

And Harry Obitz and Dick Farley, former Shawnee Inn pros, who operate the Tamiment golf concession are the consultants on two Philadelphia area golf courses that are under construction.

There is a drag racing car that is making the rounds of the nation's racing strips that will go from zero to 200 miles an hour in less than two blocks. It will pass everything on the road but a gas station.

Jay Gets Comeback Honor

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Jay, a 21-game winner for the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds, made the outstanding comeback in the National League the past season.

The results of the balloting in the annual Associated Press poll disclosed Wednesday that Jay received 59 of the 151 votes by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Frank Thomas, veteran Milwaukee outfielder, was second with 45 votes. Duke Snider of Los Angeles was a distant third with eight.

Jay, obtained from Milwaukee last winter, dropped his first three decisions in 1961. He then rallied to finish with a 21-10 mark, including four victories over the second-place Dodgers.

Although Jay was a star pitcher in the American Association in 1957 when he won 17 games, he spent three relatively unproductive campaigns at Milwaukee. His 1960 record was 9-3.

Thomas regained the form that made him one of the circuit's top sluggers. He finished the past season with 27 homers, 73 runs batted in and a .281 batting average. He had a career high of 35 homers and 109 RBI with Pittsburgh in 1958.

Stroud Union Favored For 1st Time; Pen Argyll Even

IT'S OFFICIAL, Stroud Union High School will enter Friday night's game against Whitehall as the favorite.

It will be the first time in almost two years that the Mounties have been picked by the Daily Record's "Guess-Perf" to win a game.

Pen Argyll is the only area team that doesn't get the nod this week. However, the Green Knights are rated even in their game against league leading Nazareth.

East Stroudsburg High School is picked to top Wilson Boro, which is tied for first place in the Lehigh-Northampton League with Nazareth. Bangor is a 4-0 pick over Coplay.

Syracuse Gets Nod

Penn State is picked on the national level to whip Syracuse, however, the Board of Guessers feel that Syracuse will win. Penn State graduate Don Allen is the only member of the board to go along with the Nittany Lions.

Cooper Will Fight Folley In London Grudge Battle

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON (AP)—Henry Cooper, British heavyweight champion, agreed Wednesday to meet Zora Folley of Phoenix, Ariz., in a grudge contest here Dec. 5 — a fight that could decide a 1962 challenger for world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Cooper, variously rated one or two in the list of challengers, outpointed Folley in London in a controversial 10-round, Oct. 14, 1958.

Folley now is rated the No. 6 heavyweight in the world and still is dangerous. Success for the American probably would kill Cooper's chances of a title fight with Patterson next year — and boost the claims of Folley.

The American thought he had defeated Cooper in that first fight and the return gives him a chance of revenge against Cooper, who has had only five rounds of competitive boxing this year.

The last time Cooper fought was in March when he stopped Joe Erskine of Wales to retain his British title.

Promoter Jack Solomon's announcement of the Folley-Cooper fight came as a surprise to British experts, who thought the British champion would try for a surprise to British experts, who thought the British champion would try for a warmup fight in December — instead of tackling a tough man like Folley.

Earlier Wednesday the National Boxing Association of America told Patterson he must defend his title against Cooper — rated No. 1 challenger in their list on or before March 31. The NBA said if Patterson failed to do that then they would declare the title vacant. The NBA does not recognize the Patterson-Tom McNeely bout at Toronto on Dec. 4 as of championship caliber.

Eddie Machen, another top-ranking American who defeated Britain's Brian London Tuesday night, said before flying home that he would like to take on Cooper.

Pribula Takes Lead

Barkman, Lewis Are 1-2 In State Grid Scoring

HALFBACK Toby Barkman and quarterback Bill Lewis of East Stroudsburg State College, rank second and third in the Pennsylvania college football scoring race.

Barkman, who led the race last week, managed only one touchdown against Mansfield Saturday and fell four points behind the state leader, Jim Pribula of West Chester. Pribula had 21 points Saturday against Clarion. He scored two touchdowns, kicked six extra points and booted a 40-yard field goal.

Barkman is the leading touchdown maker in the state with eight, while Lewis is next in line with six.

Lewis, a junior from Bristol, had two touchdowns against Mansfield.

Will Get Chances

Barkman will get a chance to increase his point total Saturday at Cheyney but it is doubtful that Lewis will play. He injured his right shoulder on the last play of the first half against Mansfield and has not been able to practice this week.

If Lewis does not play, it will be the first time in two years that an East Stroudsburg first unit player has missed a game because of injuries.

Moses Scott of Bloomsburg and Larry Kerstetter, of Susquehanna, are tied for fourth place in scoring with 32 points.

Lewis may not be the only Warrior quarterback to miss Saturday's game. Second unit QB Charlie Sierier was called home Saturday night after his father was injured in an automobile accident.

Warrior coach Jack Gregory does not know when Sierier will return to school.

Uhl Out

End Ray Uhl banged his head in practice Tuesday and may miss the Cheyney game. Uhl will find out from his doctor today if he can play Saturday.

Another end, Ronnie Sullivan, is still sidelined with a dislocated thumb.

The Warriors are rated as much as a 53-point favorite to beat perennial whipping boy Cheyney, which has not won a Pennsylvania State College Conference game in years.

Two freshmen will handle the quarterback work Saturday. Harold Auker, a freshman from Altoona, has been handling the first unit in practices, with another freshman, Nick Forsette, of Scranton working with the second unit. Fred O'Connor, a senior reserve halfback, is the third unit QB.

Cavaliers Will Face Best Back Saturday Says Kist

"WE FACE the best back we will play against this season," says Jack Kist, East Stroudsburg High football coach, whose team meets Wilson Boro Saturday night.

Kist is referring to Rich Grube, a 6-1, 190 fullback, whose main attack is running over tacklers.

"Grube is not real fast," says Kist, "but when he gets in the open he's tough to bring down. He's a bull type of runner."

Must Stop Grube

Kist feels that to stop Wilson, the Cavaliers must stop Grube. And much of the Cavalier practice time this week has been spent on Grube defenses.

The Warriors run from a power T and a variation of the short punt.

punt, Grube is the deep man and the other Wilson backs use wedge-type blocking in front of him.

"Wilson tries for four or five yards on every play," says Kist. "It's strictly a power offense."

Wilson also likes to platoon and will use 27 or more players a game. Kist plans to platoon as much as possible so that his players will be as rested as the Warriors.

Several Reasons

The Cavaliers will have several reasons for beating Wilson. If East Stroudsburg is to win the Lehigh-Northampton League it must knock off Wilson, which is tied with Nazareth for the loop lead. And last year Wilson crushed East Stroudsburg 27-6, in what Kist called "our poorest game of the year."

And if the Cavaliers need another reason for winning they can use the fact that Kist is a Wilson alumni and likes to beat his old school.

Tackle Bud Stann is a doubtful performer for the game. Stann is still bothered by a torn arm muscle.

Except for Stann and guard Earl Metzgar, who was lost for the season because of concussion two weeks ago, the Cavaliers will be in good physical shape.

Sonny Doing The Job For Phila. Eagles

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Inevitably, the first question asked when the Philadelphia Eagles arrive in a National Football League city is, how is Sonny Jurgensen doing?

Well, unless figures lie, Sonny is doing just fine, thank you. He's second in the league in passing and the Eagles are tied for first place in the Eastern Conference.

A look at the latest NFL statistics speak more eloquently for the job being done by the former Duke star than anything he or Coach Nick Skorich could say.

Trails Plum

Jurgensen has thrown 135 passes, completed 74 or 54.8 per cent for 1,134 yards and 11 touchdowns. He's second to Milt Plum of Cleveland in the competition for passing honors.

Skorich says he has no reason to take back any of the favorable pre-season comments he made on Jurgensen.

Skorich, in his first season at the Eagles' helm, feels his quarterback is improving gradually in his play calling, and in the ability to pick apart a defense.

How does Sonny feel about things?

"I'm satisfied so far," he said. "The toughest thing is to get the knack of picking out those second, third and fourth receivers."

Schoonover 6th Orange Player To Break Hand

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—Bill Schoonover, Syracuse University's first team fullback, joined the Orangemen's broken-hand brigade Wednesday.

Schoonover, a 200-pound sophomore from Stroudsburg, is the sixth member of the team sidelined with a broken hand.

Schoonover injured the hand Tuesday but did not think it was broken. Wednesday, however, the hand began to pain him and x-rays were taken.

He will miss Saturday's game against Penn State but may be ready to play in two weeks.

Colts Hire Ellis Deal; Set Roster

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Houston Colts celebrated the first birthday of their National League franchise Wednesday by completing their player roster and coaching staff.

The 1962 baseball franchise was awarded to the Colts one year ago Tuesday.

The Colts announced a 39-man playing roster and added Ellis (Cot) Deal as a pitching coach. They also announced plans to complete their coaching staff Thursday by announcing a fifth assistant to Manager Harry Craft.

Frozen Rosters

Rosters of major league clubs were frozen at 40 players at midnight Tuesday. Paul Richards, general manager, purposely left one vacancy on the Colts roster to facilitate possible trades this winter.

The 39-man roster includes 20 pitchers, three catchers, nine infielders, and seven outfielders.

The 23 players selected Oct. 10 in the National League pool have been augmented by 12 players from Colt farm clubs and the purchase of four players from the St. Louis Cardinals and the Charleston and Jersey City clubs of the International League.

Deal, former pitching coach of the Cincinnati Reds, was manager of the pennant winning Indianapolis club of the American Association this year.

Craft earlier had named Jimmy Adair, Bobby Bragan and Jim Busby to his coaching staff.

NBA Begins 16th Season With 2 Tilts

NEW YORK (AP)—The 16th National Basketball Association season gets under way Thursday night at Madison Square Garden with Los Angeles playing Philadelphia and Chicago opposing New York in a doubleheader.

Chicago, a new entrant in the league, is coached by former Minneapolis Coach Jim Pollard. The Packers are composed of veterans from a player-pool of NBA clubs and promising rookies. The top prospect is 6-10 Walt Bellamy of Indiana.

The opener of the twin bill pits the Lakers' Elgin Baylor against the Warriors' Wilt Chamberlain. Wilt the Silt owns virtually all the league scoring records except Baylor's single game high of 71 points, set in the Garden last season.

The game also marks the debut of Frank McGuire as coach of Philadelphia. McGuire, who succeeded Neil Johnston, formerly coached at St. John's and North Carolina.

The Knicks also will have a new coach in Eddie Donovan, who did his collegiate coaching at St. Bonaventure. Donovan, who replaced Carl Braun, will rely mainly on veterans Willie Naulls and Richie Guerin.

The league has adopted 13 minor rule changes. One of the more important changes involves a team limit on fouls in a period.

The new team foul rule provides that if a team has not committed six fouls during the first 10 minutes of a quarter, it shall be permitted to incur one foul during the last two minutes of each quarter without extra penalty. Any number of fouls committed thereafter would call for two shots on what would normally be one-shot fouls or three chances to make two free throws on other fouls.

With the addition of Chicago, the league now will have nine teams, five in the Western Division. Each team will play 80 games.

Four games are on tap Saturday with defending champion Boston opening its season at home against Detroit. New York is at Philadelphia in a nationally televised afternoon game. Other games are Chicago at Syracuse and Cincinnati at St. Louis.

Bowling Results

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers defensive forward wall — rated by three foes as the toughest in the league — will have to rely on more than its reputation Sunday against the Cleveland Browns at Forbes Field.

For the Browns, despite their poor showing in a 49-17 loss to the Green Bay Packers last week, possess one of the best all-around attacks in the business.

Leading the Cleveland offensive show is the National Football League's top passer, quarterback Milt Plum. Plum, who has been trying to make Brown fans forget their incompable Otto Graham — and succeeding, has completed 75 of 131 pass attempts for 934 yards and 9 touchdowns. Those nine TDs have accounted for all but two of Cleveland's touchdowns this season.

More significantly, the ex-Penn State star has been thrown for only 29 yards loss while attempting to pass.

Plum's top receiver is Ray Renfro, fifth in the league in receptions with 336 yards and two touchdowns on 21 catches. Right behind Renfro is — surprisingly — a big Jim Brown who has caught 20 aerials for 133 yards.

Plum, however, suffered a dislocated right thumb against Green Bay and may miss Sunday's contest. If so, his place will be taken by ex-Steelers Len Dawson.

Although most of the Browns' scoring this year has been through the air, they have a potent running game led by Jim Brown and halfback Bobby Mitchell.

"We won't come up against a better pair of runners all year than Brown and Mitchell," Coach Buddy Parker warns. "It's a toss-up whether Brown or (Jim) Taylor (of Green Bay) is the best inside runner in the league. But there's no better outside runner than Mitchell."

Gene Big Daddy Lipscomb, a member of that tough Steelers forward wall, echoes Parker's sentiments on Brown.

Second Effort

"Brown has the best second effort in football," Lipscomb said. "Just when you think you have him stopped, he opens up and with his second effort is gone."

Brown, the NFL's top ground gainer the past couple of seasons, is currently second in that department behind Taylor. Brown has gained 387 yards on 96 carries for one TD.

The Steelers' forward wall includes Lipscomb, Lou Michaels, Ernie Stautner, George Tarasovic and linebackers Myron Pottios, John Reger and Wilbert Scott.

Nick Skorich, head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, calls it "the toughest line we have faced so far this year." Washington and Los Angeles coaches agree. Now it's Cleveland's turn.

New York Mets Purchase Pair

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Mets of the National League purchased pitcher Bob Botz and outfielder Neil Crisley from Milwaukee Tuesday. The purchase prices were not announced. Both spent the 1961 season with Louisville in the American Association.

Botz is a right-handed relief pitcher. He finished with a 9-7 record. Crisley, who started in the Boston Red Sox chain and has played with various American League clubs, is a left-handed batter. He hit .294 with Louisville.

Mounties Have Good Chance To Get 2nd Grid Victory

IF INJURIES haven't weakened Stroud Union too much, The Mounties have a good chance of collecting their second win of the season tomorrow night at Gordon Giffels Field.

Stroud Union takes on winless Whitehall and if the Mounties win, they could climb into fourth place in the Lehigh Valley League.

Whitehall is probably the weakest team the Mounties will face this year. The Zephyrs' closest thing to a league victory this year was a 0-0 tie with Palmerston. And Stroud Union snapped a 14-game losing streak

Morse fractured his elbow in pre-game drills against Bangor. Morse was running downfield on a punt drill, when he tripped over a partially leveled baseball pitching mound at a corner of the Bangor field.

Bisbing has a torn shoulder muscle and Shay is recovering from internal injuries.

Bill Queenan has been switched from end to tackle to fill Morse's offensive position and Terry Lee and Ernie Ibarra will share the job on defense.

Mountie coach Jerry Stulgaitis, still looking for a good running attack and a better ground defense, feels his club has a good chance of winning Friday.

Stroud Union has one of the better passers in the Lehigh Valley League in quarterback Warren Loney but has not been able to muster a strong running game. Bisbing looked as if he might fill that job before he was injured.

For the Browns, despite their poor showing in a 49-17 loss to the Green Bay Packers last week, possess one of the best all-around attacks in the business.

Leading the Cleveland offensive show is the National Football League's top passer, quarterback Milt Plum. ## Warm Spells Eyed During Early And Late

Weather Predictor Foresees Severe Middle Winter

BY Peggy Bancroft
SOUTH STERLING — "Snow enough to track a cat" is necessary to determine the number of snow storms in store each winter, according to John E. Frick, whose weather prophecies come mighty close to fact each year. "How do you figure the number of storms due? Take the calendar date of the first snowfall . . . being sure that it is deep enough to track a cat. Then count how many days old the moon is. Add the two together and you have the number of snowstorms you can expect," says Mr. Frick. He holds little store by the "Woolly Bears", the caterpillars whose stripes are supposed to denote the severity of the winter. However, he has observed that this year's crop have a short red band at each end, with a wide black band in the middle. This is supposed to predict a warm early winter, severe middle and warm ending.

"But that's about what we get anyway," he commented this week. "Last November was quite cool and then warmed up, and on December 7, I recorded a reading of 70 plus. "But the next day the temperature dropped to almost zero. We had two brief 'break-ups' in January and February, and then March! March was a blister! I recorded a reading of 30 below zero in March last year. And we had a total of more than 160 inches of snow here in the Pocono last winter." The local weatherman takes temperature readings three times a day, usually about 1 a.m., and done by Eastern Standard Time all year around, since the "sun and the weather go together." A diary of the weather and important events has been kept by Mr. Frick since 1955. But his interest in the weather dates back many years to his friendship with the late "Shep" Mitchell, grandfather of William Carlton, of South Sterling, Mr.

Mitchell really knew signs and could predict the weather accurately, Mr. Frick notes. He also recalled that Mr. Mitchell was a member of the pioneer

Carlton family who arrived here from Connecticut in 1814 and settled a "claim" on Carlton Hill, now the area known as Pocono Ridge.

Benefits Of Mergers

By W. A. Davis

Q. You state that, when two companies merge and become one company, the idea is to make a larger, stronger company. Public Service Co. of Colorado and Colorado Central Power Co. are planning a merger.

Why should Colorado Central Power, a fast-growing utility company, merge with Public Service of Colorado, a utility company whose service area has practically reached the saturation point and whose common stock has remained about constant in price—until this merger plan was announced?

A. It's clear that you haven't taken a good look at Public Service of Colorado. Its stock or the territory it serves. This utility company's service area (centered around Denver) is far from reaching the "saturation point." The Denver Chamber of Commerce will have your scalp for a crack such as that.

This company's service area has shown big growth in population, industry and everything else that adds up to increasing use of electricity and gas. To meet this demand, the company has been increasing its facilities.

It heats me how you can say Public Service Co. of Colorado stock has "remained about constant in price." It was quoted below $25 a share 10 years ago and below $50 a share only two years ago. It hit $80, even before the merger plan was announced and has since gone well above $90. It's rated as a good growth stock.

The same thing can be said (even more so) for Colorado Central Power and its common stock. This company does not handle gas. Its service areas are adjacent to the Public Service Co. of Colorado service areas.

So, this serves as a typical example of a merger intended to make a larger, stronger company—one that should work out to benefit all stockholders. The stockholders of both companies will vote on the proposed merger late next month.

Q. I owned some four per cent U. S. Treasury notes, which matured Aug. 1. About 10 days before the maturity date, I turned them over to my bank with instructions to cash them when they came due and to credit my account.

On Aug. 10 I found out that the amount of the notes had not been credited to my account. The bank advised me that the Federal government sometimes took one or two months to pay off U. S. Treasury notes and bonds after they matured. In my case, it turned out to be about a month and a half. Can you explain why?

A. No, because it normally does not take that long.

If those notes were in "bearer form" (in which case your name does not appear on the note or on the books of the Treasury Department) the amount of the notes should have been credited to your account on the very day the notes matured.

Your bank should have presented the "bearer" notes to the district Federal Reserve Bank. On the maturity date, the district Federal Reserve Bank would credit your bank's account and your bank would credit your account.

If the notes were in "registered form" (with your name on them and on the books of the Treasury Department) the notes would have to be sent by the district Federal Reserve Bank to Treasury Department—where a check is made to see that the registration is correct and that you are the legal owner of the notes.

Because of the paperwork involved, this takes a bit longer. Even so, your account should have been credited within a week or 10 days after the notes matured.
